FYSA – First-Year Spring ’17 Admission
Timeline

We hope the following timeline will answer some of the questions you may be having about what will be happening and when. Please note that some dates are approximate.

- June/July/August: The College of Arts & Sciences will be in touch with you to confirm your plans for the fall.

- September/October: Cornell’s University Admissions Office will contact you for a final confirmation of attendance. Packets will include bursar information, health forms, etc. Students will receive a netID and Cornell email address.

- October: An email is sent with your peer advisor’s name. Your peer advisor will contact you and be able to answer your questions about student life.

- October 14: If you are taking classes elsewhere, this is the deadline for sending documentation for transfer of credit to as_fysa@cornell.edu. More information and reminders about this will reach you in September. Credit evaluations will be conducted starting in the second half of October (no earlier).

- November: Information regarding pre-enrollment, continued contact with peer advisors, preparation to enroll in spring classes during the third week of November.

- December: Housing application. Much more information to come during the fall.

- December: An email is sent with your faculty advisor’s name and information about your first appointment. Advising appointments are generally scheduled for the Monday before the start of classes in January.

- December: The January Orientation Guide becomes available.

- Thursday, January 21: Arrive on campus! Residence halls open and Orientation begins. There will be a required Arts & Sciences information session and many more events.

- Wednesday, January 25: SP17 classes begin.
