If you are unable to meet a deadline, please call, email, or write to the Undergraduate Admissions Office or the Office of Financial Aid and Student Employment. Admissions deadlines may be extended if we are contacted early enough with a valid reason to do so. If we do not receive a request for an extension within a timely manner, we may not be able to grant the extension. Financial Aid application materials should be submitted online, faxed, or postmarked by the deadline provided.

Important Information for Cornell Transfer Applicants

The Transfer Application
Submitting your transfer application and the $80 application fee (or fee waiver—see instructions in this booklet) begins the admissions process and should be done as soon as possible.

It is important to submit your transfer application as early as you can for several reasons:

1. You will avoid delays in the processing of your application. Cornell receives applications from more than 4,500 prospective transfer students each year. Spring transfer applicants will hear back from us in November and December. Fall transfer applicants should know that it can take us 4–6 weeks to process and review each application from the time of receipt.

2. When we receive your application and application fee (or fee waiver request), we will email you with the information you need to establish an online application status account on Cornell’s website. This may take up to two weeks at peak processing times. Receiving your ApplicantID and PIN via email is your confirmation that we have received your application. Using this secure site, you will be able to track your application materials and update your email address as necessary. If you do not receive an ApplicantID within two weeks of submitting your application to Cornell University, it may be because your email address is incorrect or you are blocking email from us. Go to our website (admissions.cornell.edu), hover over “Apply,” then click on “Check Application Status.” Follow the instructions to obtain your ApplicantID.

How to Submit the Application
Submit the Transfer Common Application and Cornell University Questions and Writing Supplement online at commonapp.org or the Universal College Application and Supplement at universalcollegeapp.com. The Mid-Term Report may be faxed or emailed as outlined in the instructions on the form. The Final Report (which includes your high school transcript) must be printed and mailed. All mailed materials (transcripts, Mid-Term Report, etc.) must be sent to the Application Processing Center. Please include your name, home address, and date of birth on all attached sheets.

Do NOT send duplicate copies of materials through the mail or online unless you are specifically asked to do so by the admissions office.

We encourage you to view the personal parts of the application, and in particular the Personal Statement, as opportunities to think about yourself and reflect on what is important to you. Give careful thought to the questions that are asked, but don’t try to write the answers you think we want to hear. Give us answers that tell us about you.

Your application must be submitted online by October 15 for spring 2018 transfer admission, or by March 15 for fall 2018 transfer admission.

Application Fee/Fee Waiver
Cornell’s application fee is $80, and you are required to submit it with your transfer application. Please note that Cornell cannot process your application without the application fee or fee waiver. You can apply for an application fee waiver by submitting the NACAC Fee Waiver Form or a letter from a transfer advisor or representative of a social service/community agency stating that the fee would cause financial hardship. When submitting your application online, check the fee waiver box on the application and mail your fee waiver request to: Transfer Admissions, Cornell University, Application Processing Center, East Hill Plaza, 349 Pine Tree Road, Ithaca, NY 14850-2899.

Cornell University Supplemental Information
The required Cornell University Questions and Writing Supplement on the My Colleges tab (CA) or the Cornell Supplement (UCA) provides us with essential information about your academic interests. The admissions staff at Cornell carefully reads and evaluates your response to the academic interest essay. The information you provide helps us determine how good a match exists between your intellectual goals and the Cornell college or school to which you are applying. You may submit this information with your transfer application or separately.

Important Email Instructions
It is important that you provide us with a legible, current email address that you check frequently. Email is our primary tool for communicating with you to request missing application materials, verify information, give you special instructions, etc. Please carefully type or print your email address on the application form, being certain that characters are understood (for example, using Ø for zero and noting the difference between a lower case l, the number 1, and the letter l). Please also be sure to include cornell.edu in your address book and/or remove any spam blockers that might prevent our email from reaching you.
Admission Interviews
For applicants to the architecture program in the College of Architecture, Art, and Planning, a formal interview is required for admission. Applicants to the Department of Art in the College of Architecture, Art, and Planning are strongly encouraged (though not required) to have an interview. The Cornell SC Johnson College of Business- School of Hotel Administration offers an optional interview on-campus or off-campus.

- For architecture or fine arts applicants interview request forms can be found at aap.cornell.edu/undergraduate-admissions-architecture or aap.cornell.edu/undergraduate-admissions-art
- Cornell SC Johnson College of Business- School of Hotel Administration: Optional interviews offered. Details at sha.cornell.edu/admissions-programs/undergraduate/how-to-apply/interview

Formal interviews are not required, nor offered as part of the admissions process for any other undergraduate programs.

Portfolios and Design Supplements
Portfolios and/or design supplements are required as follows:

College of Agriculture and Life Sciences
- Landscape architecture: portfolio required
- Send to: Landscape Architecture Department, Cornell University, 440 Kennedy Hall, Ithaca, NY 14853

College of Architecture, Art, and Planning
- Architecture: portfolio required (for guidelines visit http://aap.cornell.edu/admissions/undergraduate/architecture)
- Art: portfolio required (for guidelines visit http://aap.cornell.edu/admissions/undergraduate/art)
- Submit online at cornellaap.slideroom.com

College of Human Ecology
- Design and environmental analysis: design challenge required
- Fashion design and management: design supplement required
- Visit www.human.cornell.edu/admissions for more information and instructions.

Academic Report
Transfer applicants to Cornell are required to submit one Academic Evaluation (CA) or Professor Recommendation (UCA). If you desire to send additional instructor recommendations, you may download and print the forms at commonapp.org or universalcollegeapp.com. Be sure to remind individuals writing recommendations for you to include your full name and date of birth on all pages.

College Report
The College Report is a required part of the Cornell transfer application. A registrar, college faculty/advisor, or other college official who has access to your academic and disciplinary records must complete this report. The official should complete the form to the best of his or her ability. The section of the form regarding academic standing and disciplinary record is required.

Mid-Term Report
The required Mid-Term Report is completed by instructors in whose courses you are enrolled at the time of your application. If midterm grades are not available to submit with your application, the Mid-Term Report should be submitted as soon as possible after grades are available.

International Applicants
International applicants must complete and submit all required application documents and components. See the application checklist and the college-specific requirements detailed in the front of this booklet. In addition, international applicants may need to submit scores from the TOEFL or IELTS exam. International students should visit the Cornell Financial Aid website (finaid.cornell.edu) for instructions on applying for financial aid.

Application Checklist
See instructions for submitting the various required application components at the front of this booklet.

All Transfer Applicants
- Transfer Application (CA or UCA)
- $80 Application Fee or Fee Waiver
- Cornell University Questions and Writing Supplement (CA) or Supplement (UCA)
- Academic Evaluation (CA) or Professor Recommendation (UCA)
- College Report
  Note: The College Report must be submitted, but it is not necessary to have a college dean complete the form. You are welcome to ask a college/faculty advisor, college registrar, or other college official who has access to your academic and disciplinary records.
- Required Mid-Term Report for your current courses
- Final high school transcript (secure official copy and mail it to the Application Processing Center)
- College transcript(s) (secure official copy from all colleges or universities attended and mail to the Application Processing Center)
- Official test score reports sent from testing agencies (Note: the SAT, ACT, and SAT Subject Tests are not required for transfer applicants, but some Cornell colleges would like to see the results if you have taken these tests)
- Complete course descriptions and syllabi for College of Engineering and College of Agriculture and Life Sciences biological and environmental engineering applicants only (for submission instructions, see www.engineering.cornell.edu/admissions/undergraduate/transfer/index.cfm)
- Required résumé/c.v. for applicants to the College of Business- School of Hotel Administration and optional interviews offered for SHA applicants. Details at sha.cornell.edu/admissions-programs/undergraduate/how-to-apply/
- Required interview for applicants to the architecture program in the College of Architecture, Art, and Planning
- Required portfolios and design supplements for applicants to the landscape architecture program in the College of Agriculture and Life Sciences, the architecture or art programs in the College of Architecture, Art, and Planning, or the design and environmental analysis or fashion design management programs in the College of Human Ecology

Helpful Application Tips
- Give yourself enough time before the deadline to complete both the transfer application and supplements
- Submit either the Common Application or the Universal College Application and all associated forms - DO NOT duplicate applications or mix and match forms
- Pages can get separated, so include your full name, home address, and birth date on every page that is mailed
- For grouping of multiple pages for mailing, use paperclips (do not staple)
- After completing your application and supplements, save copies for yourself
- Set up your online application status account by following the instructions you receive after submitting the application and fee or fee waiver
- Be sure to submit all items on the application checklist
Cornell has a need-blind admissions policy, which means that we review your admissions application without considering whether you’ve applied for aid; Cornell awards all financial aid on the basis of demonstrated financial need. We encourage you to learn more about our aid initiatives, policies, or even complete our Financial Aid Calculator at finaid.cornell.edu.

U.S. Citizens, Permanent Residents, DACA, Asylees, and Refugees:
U.S. citizens, U.S. permanent residents, and applicants who have been granted DACA (Deferred Action for Childhood Arrival), refugee, or asylee status are eligible to apply for financial assistance and should follow the instructions on the following webpage to apply for financial assistance: finaid.cornell.edu/apply-aid/prospective-applicants.

Note that if you are applying for aid as a U.S. permanent resident, or have been granted DACA, refugee, or asylee status, you will be required to document your permanent residency or DACA/refugee/asylee status. To be considered for aid, you must be able to document your status by November 1 for spring transfers and by July 1 for fall transfers. Please see our website for the required forms of documentation.

Financial Aid Deadlines and Timeline:
If you are offered admission and have met our aid application deadlines, you will receive an aid notification. Failure to meet our deadlines will result in limited financial aid eligibility.

Spring 2018 Transfer Applicants
- October 15: All financial aid application requirements due
- Mid-December/Early January: Financial aid notifications sent to admitted applicants
- Early January: Deposit due to Admissions

Fall 2018 Transfer Applicants
- March 15: All financial aid application requirements due
- By June 15: Financial aid notifications sent to admitted applicants
- By July 1: Deposit due to Admissions

International, Undocumented Applicants, and without DACA
Cornell University practices need-aware international admissions and provides need-based financial aid to admitted international students and admitted undocumented students without DACA (Deferred Action for Childhood Arrival) status who apply for financial aid by stated deadlines and who have demonstrated financial need. Follow the deadlines stated below.

For more information and how to apply, please visit: finaid.cornell.edu/apply-aid/international-applicants.

International Financial Aid Deadlines
- Fall Decision Deadline-
  - March 15: All international financial aid application requirements due

To apply for financial aid, please visit finaid.cornell.edu.
Please see the instructions on Cornell’s admissions website at admissions.cornell.edu/apply/transfer-applicants prior to completing this form.
